Tree Talk has a vast network of practitioners with a wide range of expertise, but our treatments are especially useful in managing the following chronic conditions:

- Loneliness
- Numbness
- Exhaustion
- Hopelessness
- Compulsive Thinking
- Indecisiveness
- Fear
- Anger
- Mistrust
- Guilt

How to begin Tree Therapy with one of our practitioners

1. Think of an issue or problem that has been weighing on your mind. Write it down in a few words below.
2. Think about the qualities that you would want in someone that you would share your thoughts about these problems or issues with. Write those qualities down in the space below.
3. <sup>Δ</sup>Find a chair that you can carry around easily. Take your chair outside. Walk with it and look for a tree that you feel has some or all of the qualities that you outlined in step two. Look closely and do not stop until you find such a tree.
4. ‡Set an alarm for 30 - 50 minutes.
5. Begin just sitting with your tree. Then, after getting comfortable, begin telling your tree about your problem or issue that has been concerning you. Tell it as much as you can and then pause and listen to your tree. Continue telling and listening until your alarm goes off.

When you are finished, your session is over. You are welcome to return to the same tree for as many sessions as you feel you need, or to meet with any other tree in the world that is in our network. If you are unsure whether a tree is within our network or not, rest assured that it is. If you are in the London area, you can easily locate one of our practitioners using the TreeTalk London app treetalk.co.uk
